Actions Voted on by the Professional Development Committee

The following actions received a majority vote by the Professional Development Committee.

The following four professional development sessions will be scheduled for the fall 2018 semester—

- Paige Singleton, our Turnitin representative, will share about Turnitin's new features. Paige will provide an overview on how to use Turnitin's Feedback Studio to go beyond simple originality checking. This session will focus on interpreting a Turnitin Originality Report, applying Turnitin best practices, and delivering quality student feedback.
- Dr. Hope Nordstrom, an assistant professor and the Director of Curriculum and Instruction in the College of Professional Studies at Lipscomb University, will present "A Thousand Words: Digital Tools to Enhance Visual Literacy" to promote collaboration among students.

- Jen Waller, the Open Educational Resources & Scholarly Communication Coordinator for the University of Oklahoma, will share about Open Educational Resources, which are free, openly licensed materials to be used for teaching, learning, research, and other purposes.
- Jessica Andrew, with Enid's Downtown Kitchen Store, will offer nutritional information about healthy, quick meals and snacks to accommodate our busy lives and easy ways to encourage wellness in our students' lives. This workshop will help us meet one of our general education assessment initiatives.
- "Creating Fun, Effective Videos in the Classroom" Workshop

Kaylyn Pulley, a former NOC student and owner of Pulley Productions, and DeLisa Ging will share how instructors can create effective, eye-catching videos on a shoestring budget and how student-created videos can be used as an assessment option. Instructors will create videos during this interactive workshop.
